cents. All prices include tax. Tickets will also be sold before performances at the Men's Gym. A children's program will be featured at the matinee. The Minneapolis orchestra, con-spring. Besides touring the country, the orchestra has made numerous recordings and radio appearances.

Dimitri Mitropoulos became permanent conductor in 1937. He conducts entirely from memory, using no scores even at rehearsals. He also scorns a baton, because he feels that his flexible hands can more accurately convey his meaning. Mr. Mitropoulos has been called "one of the outstanding men of music in the world today," by a leading critic.

Student Court Assesses $191 In Parking Fines

According to information furnished by the Business Office $191 was assessed in fines by the Student Court for violations of regulations previously approved by the Student Senate, chiefly in regard to the parking of cars, from September through the end of February.

All of this money goes to the Clayton C. Kohl Student Loan and Scholarship Fund and is used for the purpose of making loans to worthy students who need financial aid to continue their education.

The Administration has made the following statements:

While the parking problem has been acute, there is reason to believe that the majority of our students wish to cooperate in handling the problem for the good of all. In similar fashion the majority of the faculty and other employees wish to cooperate.

Faculty members and other employees to whom parking space is assigned are expected to use the space assigned so that other space will be released to students, faculty and other employees who are unassigned and visitors. Faculty and other employees who abuse the parking privilege are expected to make their contribution to the Clayton C. Kohl Student Loan and Scholarship Fund.

It is up to all to drive carefully and park properly. If one has to pay a fine, however, there is the consolation that the money goes to a very worthy cause.

BGSU Places In Tournament

Bowling Green debaters won second in oratory and debate, and fourth in discussion at the Pi Kappa Delta "Province of the Lake" Tournament held Friday and Saturday at Michigan State College.

Mitzi Peterson, freshman, talked about displaced children in her oration on "The Land of Oz."

Aris "Bob" Mallas and Patricia Swineford, of the affirmative team, downed Heidelberg, Central Michigan, and Seton Hall.

Louis Fernandez and Roger J. Warner, negative, won over Baldwin-Wallace, Hope, and Kalamazoo.

Dances Get New Wardrobe For Concert This Week

The Dance Concert, which will be presented in the Main Auditorium, Thursday and Friday at 8:15 p.m., will have a complete new wardrobe for all numbers.

Under the direction of Miss Evelyn Lockman, associate professor of physical education, the program is made up of different varieties of dance.

A long composition entitled "The Color Wheel" is the feature number composed and danced by Dance Club members. It is an attempt to show synchronization of movement, mood, and color in rhythmic design. Six groups representing six colors will dance to music selections from the modern school of music, climaxing in an ensemble to Percy Grainger's "Spoon River."

Special stage sets and lighting effects have been made for the "White Ritual" number which opens the second part of the program. This composition, danced by 15 Dance Club members, is an example of the religious type of dance.

The senior girls of the physical education department will dance a modern composition entitled "Song of the Bayou." Sung by Ralph Schriempf, it is a prayer for the removal of rain and darkness and for the return of light.

Jack Stuber, Kappa Sigma fraternity contestant, won the distinction of being the "Ugly Man" on campus.

Alpha Phi Omega, local service fraternity, sponsored the contest to aid the Red Cross Drive. Total proceeds of the contest amounted to $44.19.

Pictures of the contestants were displayed for one day in front of the Main Auditorium. Cans were placed beneath them to collect the votes, registered by pennies.

Contestants from the various fraternities and dormitories were Jerry Martin, Alpha Tau Omega; Jack Stuber, Kappa Sigma; Charles Splain, North Dorm; Hank Lewis, Phi Delta; Gerald Murphy, Pi Theta; John Monetta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; and William Russell, Sigma Nu.

Jack won first place with 1,325 votes, while second place went to John Monetta of Sigma Alpha Epsilon who received 1,088 votes.

Charles Young Receives Ph. D.

Prof. Charles W. Young, director of the University Elementary School, received the degree of doctor of philosophy March 19 at the Ohio State University winter convocation.

His dissertation was, "Beginning Elementary Teachers as Transitionists: A Follow-Up Field Study of 50 Recent Graduates of the Ohio State University."

Mr. Young was graduated in 1929 from Waterville High School, in 1933 with a bachelor's degree from Ohio Wesleyan University and in 1938 with a master's degree from Ohio State.

Play Tryouts April 15, 16

Tryouts for the three-act play "All My Sons" by Arthur Miller will be held April 15 in the Rec Hall and April 16 in the PA Auditorium from 4 to 5:30 and 7 to 8 p.m. They will be open to all students.

Rehearsals start April 19, but will be suspended during spring vacation. The play will be presented May 20, 21, and 22 in the Main Auditorium.

"All My Sons" received the New York Drama Critics Circle Award in the 1947 Broadway season. After playing on Broadway for nine months, it ran in Paris in the spring of 1947.

Not until recently was it released for amateur production. The movie version is now showing in New York City.

The play is concerned with wartime profiteering and how it affects two families in particular.

This is his third year at Bowling Green, where he is associate professor of education and coordinator in elementary education.

Mr. Young is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Delta Pi, Phi Delta Kappa, Pi Delta Epsilon, American Association of University Professors, National Council of Teachers of English, National Education Association, Ohio Education Association, and Rotary International.

needed-expansion of education...

The President's Commission on Higher Education, appointed by President Truman to examine higher education and the means by which it might be improved, has advised sweeping revisions.

The number one need is for the expansion of higher education facilities so that more students may attend college. The Commission urged that free public education be extended through the first two years of college, and that fees be reduced in all public colleges and universities.

Nearly half the population of this country has the mental ability to complete two years of college and at least 32 per cent has the mental ability to complete an advanced education. But, under the present set-up, even with the G.I. Bill, a large percentage of these persons is unable to attend college.

Congress is at present considering appropriations to prepare our country against the threat of war. Such appropriations are certainly necessary, but it is time someone began to think of spending a little money to promote peace. Education is the greatest weapon we have in the fight to preserve peace and promote world understanding.

Surely, it would be much more economical in the long run to spend money for education now, than to wait until we have to spend huge sums in another costly war.

by Hank Lewis, A. L. McClain, and Lloyd Pearson

Man's gregarious nature created fraternities and sororities just as it did the city and village. Misunderstanding between these organizations and independents is not based upon uncommon ground, but rather on ideologies. In these organized groups members are chosen by standards according to mental likes and dislikes. The result, which cannot be attained through desultory action, is a desired harmony.

Greek organizations should not attempt to erect a social barrier around their charges, but should encourage outside differences of opinion and upon these differences base the constructive thinking toward which progressive colleges are striving. Therein should lie the primary task of sororities and fraternities.

Education must be carried on even after the chimes have signified the end of the day's classes. Young men and women should be taught social graces and the importance of becoming well-mannered human beings. This 'Emily Post' lesson is somehow missed by many who have come to think of sororities and fraternities as a continual social whirl of dances and good times.

Some criticisms of the present "Greek" setup are justified but many are quite unfounded. Attempts to condemn sometimes overshadow the benefits derived by many from these organizations. The college administration cannot, when leadership in various activities is needed, call upon the student body as a whole. Fraternities and sororities have in many cases, risen to the need in a creditable manner.

Activities on any campus are necessarily directed by smaller groups acting as a single unit. It should be recognized by all that in this way a few can do much for many. A broad-minded outlook on the part of fraternities and sororities as well as independents can do much to foster a feeling of good fellowship among all who make up the democratic student body.

Don Cowell, Dave Hawley, and Larry Davis drew up partnership papers March 1, and have secured contracts to trim trees and do other tree surgery for Bowling Green. They will also work for any private individual wishing to secure their services. All three members plan to work 25 to 30 hours a week on their newly-found profession. The partnership will expand as business grows and will add other college men to share the work and the profits of the company. Next year, the trio will embark to debark Findlay, where they will set up a branch office.

The most modern equipment is used by the group who will model their business after larger companies in this area. Trimming and removal work is the specialty of the crew, so clients can be ready for anything.

Don is from Westfield, N. J., and worked with the Asplundh Tree Company before coming to Bowling Green.

Dave was with the Carl H. Mosier Tree Expert Company for three years in Southwest Ohio. He is treasurer and general business manager of the partnership. While with the Mosier Company, Dave specialized in trimming and removal work.

Larry is especially adept at spraying, landscaping, and tree pruning.

And so if your family tree needs trimming, pruning, spraying or chopping down, you don't have to imitate George Washington. Let the trio of tree trimming experts do the dirty work for you.

"Yield of the Fountain" Receives Enthusiastic Acclaim Opening Night

by Robert Bashore

The near-perfect opening night production of Professor Fred Walsh's play, "Yield of the Fountain," received enthusiastic acclaim from a critical and appreciative audience.

Professor Walsh in his pleasant, informal curtain speech told us that a play needed four things to make it a success, good actors, a good director, a good stage crew, and genuinely critical theater-goers. Professor Walsh modestly omitted one other rather important item, the playwright and the play itself.

Technically, "Yield of the Fountain" is a well-constructed play. We notice how each scene ends with a situation which gives a polished close, and, at the same time, leaves us with a sort of anticipation for the next scene. The plot is orderly and is directed in a straight line toward the conclusion. The protagonist and antagonist are clearly delineated. Much more important than the technical aspects, however, is the fact that this is a thesis play. That is, in it the ideas are more than the plot and characters.

Basic Theme

The basic theme of the play is to show how malicious rumor destroys friendship, respect, and, eventually, ideals. Going beyond this, the thesis is a protest that "these things ought not to be." Dean Broadfoot's bitter denunciation or "compromise" is a little too true to life, a little too close to each of us, to be passed over lightly. Each of us draw examples from our own experience to parallel the circumstances of this drama.

PASS:

Experience is what you have left after everything else is gone...

This it is that makes "Yield of the Fountain" a significant play, one which all of us should see and think about. It is a thoughtful consideration, sometimes, justifiably, a bitter one, of the cruelties and injustices wrought on human personalities by ivory-tower codes which proclaim, as Dean Broadfoot puts it, "incompetence, thy name is dignity."

"Yield of the Fountain" is the exposition, beautifully done, of what true idealism is in teaching. Further, in its greater significance, it is the picture of that idealism opposed by conditions altogether too prevalent in many of our American colleges.

Setting Excellently Done

The setting of Phil Miles was excellently done and showed a tasteful rendering of light and shadow to lend to the total dramatic effect of the production.

The actors included a long list of stage veterans. Berry Menagh was especially fine in his characterization of the Dean, and Bill Prentice gave a warm, sympathetic portrayal of the professor caught in the web of the scandal. Both Menagh and Prentice handled long, difficult, idea-packed speeches with a facility indicative of much experience and enthusiasm.

The love-angle of the story was capably handled by Olive Smith in the role of Lillian and by Don Prittie as David. The struggle of David and Lillian against the insidious rumor and its effects on them is revealed in a subtle—and, in places, almost tender—dramatization of their love for each other.

The scene, with Walter Rock as Red Bixton and Gordon Ward as Carl Koenig, in which Red openly accuses and taunts Lillian with the scandal is nearly brutal in its reality. It was in such scenes of intense feeling that the effects of Professor Eldon Smith's directing were more noticeably seen. Sensitive stage business alone enhanced the wordless emotion of many scenes, and the fine qualities of the directing were seen throughout the entire play.

John Cannavan Plays Professor

By the time the show ended, we all sincerely hated Professor Bertram T. Gevalt, the part played so smoothly by John Cannavan. Pat Hiser turned in a very believable portrait of the gossip, Agnes Perkle; and Blanche Spangler as Geraldine, Jane Baxter as Mary, and Robert Rhodes as Doctor Parker complete the list. One would wish to mention the fine performance of each of them in detail.

As in any good thesis play, however, the total impression is more of a beginning than an ending. After one leaves the theater, he finds himself still thinking about the ideas of the play. Words are spoken, a discussion starts, and the conflict of ideas and emotions finds new expression in our reconsideration and evaluation long after the final curtain.

Audience Judges Play

"It is the audience that finally decides whether a play is good or bad," said Professor Walsh. "The important thing is for you to be either for it or against it—but don't ignore it." Any thinking person will find it very difficult indeed to ignore this play and what it has to tell us. Every person on this campus owes it to himself to see "Yield of the Fountain." It is a thought-provoking experience. It is more—it is good entertainment.

by Dick Lenhart and Libby Earnest

With the weather so nice, we took a walk and saw two busses standing in front of the Practical Arts Bldg., surrounded by handsome gents and well-dressed gals, so we asked the question, "Where are you going?"

Jim Richards

"To Sherwood," said Jim Richards, freshman from Fostoria. "It's going to be fun to see what the town's made of. We're going to play two concerts, and I guess that the purpose of these concerts is to get more kids to come to Bee Gee."

Norma Spaulding

Norma Spaulding, a freshman from Massillon, told us that one of the girls from Sherwood had arranged the concerts. The one in the afternoon was to be informal, and in the evening the band dressed up in tux's and formals. As she lifted her instrument onto the bus, she told us that it was a lot of fun to see the different parts of the country.

C. M. Ewing

"The kids here are a swell bunch!" said C. M. Ewing, driver of the bus, from Fostoria. "This is my second trip and every time we do something different. They have jam sessions, and last time we had a square dance in front of a gas station. They're a good bunch and I'll drive them anytime."

Marilyn Desenberg

Marilyn Desenberg likes the trips because, "You get to know the kids real well." We're inclined to agree with her that when you ride with 36 people on a bus for a great distance, you can hardly help learning to know somebody. This senior from Ashland plays the clarinet.

Child Care Classes Open Tomorrow

The first of a series of six weekly classes on Maternal and Child Care will begin tomorrow at 2 p.m. in room 3 in the Temporary Art Bldg.

With the cooperation of the local physicians, these discussion periods will be led by Mrs. Borg-hild Wulff, R. N., who works with the City-County Health Department. They are sponsored by the King's Daughters.

THE UNEXPECTED. The Kappa Tau's entertained the actives and pledges of Chi Omega sorority a week ago Sunday with entertainment and refreshments. But that wasn't all! The party was climaxed by everyone marching down to the pond to watch Kemp Jenkins get dunked for his recent pinning to "C" Hvale.

FLEDGLINGS NO LONGER. The following girls were initiated into the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority recently: Margaret Ahl, Roberta Ashlin, Flossie Beer, Marcie Elarton, Maureen Griffin, Carol Hohlfelder, Margaret Johnson, Loretta Karwinski, Joanna Klein, Louise Laibe, Carol McCammon, Kathryn Morrow, Eleanor Reist, Lois Ryder, Shirley Scott, Patricia Simon, Frances Tucker, and Martha Watt.

LUCKY GIRL. Corrine Davis, Theta Phi, caught the bridal bouquet at the wedding of her sorority sister, Jeanne Cupp, a week ago Saturday in Toledo. Jeanne, who was a student here last year, married Toledoan Eugene Ritter, a Lambda Chi Alpha.

ANOTHER DUCKING. Another ducking occurred on campus when the Phi Mu sorority pledged kept their word to pledgemastriss Jean Schwartzberg that they would get even with her for their "hell" week. Catching her off guard at the pledge party held recently, they took her—clothes and all—and threw her into the shower.

TURNABOUT. The Kappa Delta sorority pledged enjoyed a turnabout of events when the actives had to entertain them. A dessert was held Wednesday; a wiener roast, Thursday; and a treasure hunt, Friday. All was over Saturday when the pledges were initiated.

NEW BOSSES. Winning in the recent election of Gamma Phi Beta officers were Winnie Auble, president; Bev Davis, vice president; Tommie Goodfellow, recording secretary; Carol Pool, corresponding secretary; and Norma Mondron, treasurer.

SPORTS. Signs of spring are all over, but one of the most obvious seen last Saturday morning was the Pi Kappa Alpha's and the Alpha Chi Omega's engaged in a softball game.

WELCOME INN. A "Date Party" was held by the Alpha Xi Delta sorority last Friday. The actives and pledges with dates took their fellows to the house for entertainment and refreshments.

DESSERT. An after-dinner dessert party was held for the Delta Gamma sorority by the Phi Delta fraternity last Friday evening at their house.

CORRECTION. The Kappa Delta's did not hold open house for the Sigma Chi's as stated in last week's issue. Rather the Sigma Chi's held open house for them.

Contrast And Skill Makes 'Vespers In Vienna' Success

by A. L. McClain

"Vespers in Vienna" is further proof that a writer armed with a sharp contrast of conditions and with a real talent for writing can produce a good novel.

Bruce Marshall's Vienna is one following the last war, a Vienna of occupation: waltzes are not quite so popular with the less cosmopolitan set of soldiers and wine is not quite so abundant. However, Vienna is not entirely without intrigue. In the atmosphere there remains the nostalgia of what used to be combined with the present of people trying unsuccessfully to fit in with the old. Therein lies the author's paradox, his contrast.

Spring Concert Is Year's Best Says Reviewer

by Dorothy Schumann

The concert of choral music presented by the Treble Clef Club and Men's Glee Club last Friday night, April 9, in the Main Auditorium was in this reviewer's opinion the outstanding performance of the year given by any campus choral group. The selection of songs was especially good, for the program was entertaining throughout as well as containing some exceptionally good music.

The first three selections were sacred songs. Dr. Kennedy directed the Men's Glee Club in Bach's "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Him" and then the Treble Clef in Bach's "To Thee Jehovah, We Sing." Both groups generated a good, firm Bach-like tone of fine quality.

Professor Warren Allen conducted the men in "Salvation Belongeth To Our God" by Tchesnokov.

Dr. Kennedy's arrangements of "Little David Play On Your Harp" and "I Got Shoes" gave a clever, original slant to both. Miss Masako Ono directed the Treble Clef in these two numbers. Miss Marjorie Lichty was the accompanist.

The tenor solo in "De Wind Blow Over My Shoulder" was beautifully sung by Thomas McCracken. This and "Dry Bones" were both sung by the Men's Glee Club directed by Prof. Allen.

Robert Elmore's "The Prodigal Son" cannot be praised too much. It is the most refreshing and original composition of choral music your reviewer has heard in a long time. It is literally a sermon in swing without being sacrilegious or trite. In it Mr. Elmore very successfully says what he wants to say in the modern vein, just as Beethoven used the classical idiom. It has a freedom of expression and a melodic line that holds one's attention throughout.

In "Prelude" by William Schumann, Miss Masako Ono sang the demanding soprano solo—exceedingly well. This composition was also in a modern mode, but was more serious and thought-provoking than the preceding one.

The rest of the program was lighter. In "As I Ride By" by John Kernochan, Ralph Schriempf sang of his domestic troubles as a cowboy and was answered by James Carstensen, his wife. A

The author's Vienna is far from being the grim place readers might imagine it to be; handsome romances have been replaced with balding, pompous generals and young ladies in sheer evening dresses have taken the form of office girls working for the army. To keep the contrast from being too sharp so as to distort it, the author gives a certain graciousness to the working girl and a gallantry to the officers and adds the voluptuous refugee, Maria, to the scene.

For humor he supplies the Rumanian general who is seeking 60,000 misplaced Rumanians, "Or is it 600,000?"

With the introduction of Colonel Nicobar, a British officer, the author has created a character rather than a type. Types are the general rule in the fiction of today and a character is something to study and appreciate. Colonel Nicobar does not avert to strict military discipline, but his contemplative mind marks him as an individual in an organization where such a trait is very often impossible. His means of handling those strange creatures referred to as "civilians" makes him a very compassionate man.

The Russian general is depicted as being also human, but it must be hastily assured that the author is by no means a communist.

Readers will be delighted at the ending after "sweating out" Colonel Nicobar's fate in the latter stages of the book.

The author, remembered for his previous novel, "The World, The Flesh, And Father Smith" introduces the religious element in the person of Reverend Auxilia, who listens to the Colonel's panaceas, then travels to Rome to consult with her old friend, "Eugene," the Pope. She is perhaps a type.

At a time when conversationalists are prone to agree neither politics or religion can be discussed with any degree of success, Bruce Marshall does both to good advantage in "Vespers in Vienna."

Spanish song, "Carmencita," was sung by the Treble Clef, in which the soloist was Shirley Figgins.

For encores the Men's Glee Club chose "Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie." Treble Clef selected "I Wonder When I Shall be Married" with Glenna Steele doing the wondering. Then both groups united to sing "Beautiful Saviour."

Prof. Merrill McEwen

The McEwen family got the bug! Every one of them was stricken—with a talent for music!

Mom and Pop met at the Crane School of Music in Potsdam, New York and have been playing and teaching music ever since. There are five other McEwens—Doug, a freshman majoring in music at the University; Steve, a sophomore in high school, Michael, an eighth-grader who is the second Joshua Heifitz; Carol, a fourth-grader whose interest is in the piano; and Ellen, in the second grade, who hasn't yet decided her speciality in the line of instruments, but enthusiastically beats out the rhythm when her brothers and sister are practicing.

Mr. McEwen attended the University of Wisconsin and later Columbia University where he was associated with the Julliard School of Music. He received his masters degree at Ohio State University.

From the time he was a little fellow practicing his violin he has played in orchestras and quartets. At Columbia he was active in the male glee club and other musical groups.

When Mr. McEwen came to Bowling Green in 1928 as professor of music he also directed the orchestra for many years. He became chairman of the music department in 1941.

The former president of the Ohio Music Education Association, he was also president of the district with the great in music

by Dorothy Schumann

The trend in modern music seems to be for contemporary composers to write more for small ensembles than for the vast symphony orchestra, as was done so much in the last of the nineteenth century.

This is good, of course, because since a composer won't have to feel burdened down by the complex symphonic machinery, he will have more freedom of expression, as well as new methods of expression. However, don't let it be said that anything can ever take the place of the symphony orchestra.

This thought was brought up by recordings of two scores by Stravinsky. "L'Histoire du Soldat" and "Octet for Wind Instruments" were waxed by Victor in an album of five 12-inch discs. In the former, the combination of instruments—clarinet, bassoon, trumpet, trombone, violin, double bass, and percussion—is exceptionally brilliant.

"The Octet" uses flute, clarinet, two bassoons, two trumpets, and two trombones. It was written in 1922 and was really new musical territory, even for Stravinsky—territory that he conquered, however.

Leonard Bernstein, who conducts the Boston Symphony in this album, is a Stravinsky fan as has been proved in previous seasons. So he directs with a crispness and momentum that are "just right."

Along this same line, 83-year-old Richard Strauss has composed a new "Duet-Concertino" for clarinet, bassoon, strings, and harp. It was given a premier last Monday by Radio Svizzera Italiana.

group of this organization. He is a member of the Music Educators' National Conference and organized the all-Ohio orchestra when this group met in Cleveland several years ago.

Although music is his major interest, Mr. McEwen devotes a good bit of his time to Kiwanis Club and the Sigma Chi fraternity. He was formerly active in the local gun club and has won medals of expert rating for handling heavy caliber.

The McEwen family spend the summer months at their cabin in the Adirondacks, where they enjoy fishing, boating, and swimming—just plain restful living during the hottest days.

Social Weekend Features Two Dances and Concert

Highlighting this week's social calendar are a dance concert, orchestra dance, and a semi-formal dance. Two campus movies will be shown Friday and Saturday.

The Dance Concert, sponsored by the Dance Club, will give two performances starting April 15 through April 16 at 8:15 in the Main Auditorium. Tickets are 50 cents and may be obtained in the Well, from Dance Club members, or from the Physical Education Department.

Greek Week Set For May 8 to 15

Bowling Green's third annual Greek Week has been designated as May 8 to 15. The highlight of the festivities will be the formal opening of Fraternity Row.

Events scheduled for that week include an inter-fraternity smoker to be held in the Commons on Monday evening, May 10.

A trophy will be awarded to the winner of the inter-fraternity sing, which will be held Tuesday evening at the pond, or in the Main Auditorium in event of bad weather.

Thursday has been set aside as serenade night. Each of the women's dormitories and sorority houses will be visited by one of the fraternities. Later they will meet at the home of Dr. F. J. Prout to end the serenading.

This year there will not be a Green Week Dance. The University Anniversary Prom, featuring Johnny Long and sponsored by the Student Senate, will be Friday night.

Saturday afternoon the formal opening of Fraternity Row will take place. The activities will end that evening with the Wood County inter-fraternity banquet which will be held in the Commons.

The purpose of Greek week is to build a closer relationship among the fraternities on the campus.

Movies for this weekend are "Babes on Swing Street" starring Ann Blythe for Friday night and "Tom Brown's School Days" starring Jimmy Lydon and Sir Cedric Hardwicke. Both will be shown at the PA Auditorium, 7 and 9 p.m.

"Bartered Bride" Given Next Year

Dr. James Paul Kennedy, director of the choral groups, has announced that the musical operetta, "The Bartered Bride," originally scheduled for presentation May 16, has been postponed because of a crowded schedule and the fact that the scores arrived late.

The operetta will probably be presented next year, shortly after Christmas.

With The Falcons

by T. J. Loomis, Jr.

A pre-season observation of the spring sports scene indicates that 1948 may produce some of the best squads ever to represent Bowling Green in track, baseball, golf, and tennis.

Veterans dominate the track squad as they do the other three activities. Dave Matthews, who is taking charge of this group for Bob Whittaker while the latter is busy with spring football, has recently held an intrateam meet, the results of which are quite encouraging.

First class competitors are numerous. The field events look even stronger than a year ago. Ohio champion Stan Weber will be back in the shot put as well as in the discus. Bruce King and Bill Hungling pushed Stan hard for honors last season and they too return in the weights.

Jim Whittaker, the state's leading pole vaulter, with veteran Paul Sackett will assure the Falcons of points in that event. Sackett and newcomer John Fischrupp have looked good in the high jump, while John Mould returns in the broad jump. In the broad, Hal Robinson, a new sensation, will perform. He has already scaled close to 23 feet.

Robinson is expected to break all existing team records in the sprints. Behind him in the 100 and 200 yard dashes are Bob Long, Bob Zimmerman, and Mould. The quarter mile is well taken care of by Bill Huff, Cliff Baker, Don Sazima, John Schaefer, and John Monetta. The last four formed the mile relay team which set a school record last year.

It is in the distances where the Orange and Brown may lose some points. However, it is quantity that is missing, not quality. Bob Weaver, Bob Petrie, and Ernie Jackson will be tough for any competition; but depth is lacking in the half, mile, and two mile.

Central Michigan, rumors say, is loaded also. If so, the opener Saturday morning should be one of the best meets of the season. A large crowd is expected to watch the thinclads in action.

TENNIS TEAM EAGER TO IMPROVE RECORD

Tennis appears to be on the upgrade. Returning to the fold with a year of experience under their belts are lettermen Dave Scudder, Bob Calas, Kempton Jenkins, and Jack Maring. "Sliv" Thomason and Jim Geiger are two others who have seen some previous action. Last season was one of building and Coach Martin Winemiller inherits a squad that may be ready to go places.

BG Track Team Meets C. Michigan Saturday

Central Michigan's track team invades Bowling Green Saturday morning at 9:30 for the first of eight dual meets for the Falcon thinclads.

The Michiganders are paced by their captain and leading point-getter, Warren Giese, field specialist, who is considered one of the finest trackmen in Central history. Giese competes in the discus, shot put, and broad jump. An end in football, he was placed on the BG gridders all-opponent team last fall.

In Jim Little, the Chippewas have one of the better half milers in the Midwest. Little is a consistent dual meet winner and took a second in the recent Illinois Tech relays.

Red-headed Clarence Duve gives the Chips strength in the hurdle department. Duve was undefeated in his specialty in dual meets last season.

Art Teixeira is another Central standout. A high jumper, he placed 5th in the Illinois Tech relays with a leap of 6'1". Bob Fraser does the pole vaulting, but it is doubtful if he can top Falcon ace Jim Whittaker. Dick Frank and Jay Wildfong lead the squad's distance men.

In the dashes and relay the Chippewas were hit hard by graduation, losing Dale Wares, Roland Woodcock, and ex-BG athlete Terry Carey. Bill Fugenschuh will probably be their dash entry.

Falcons Encounter Toledo Today

Maurice Seiple and Captain John Hersland, returning lettermen, prepare for the coming golf season.

Four Lettermen Return For Tennis Team

Bowling Green's new tennis coach, Martin Winemiller, has approximately 18 players working out daily in the courts behind the stadium in preparation for the opening tennis match with the University of Toledo next week.

Four lettermen form the nucleus of this season's squad and a few experienced returnees give Winemiller some fine material in his first year at the helm.

Captain Dave Scudder is back as is the potent doubles team of Kempton Jenkins and John Maring. Bob Calas will be a strong factor again in the singles competitions. Beside these monogram wearers, Jim Geiger and Harry Thompson were active last season.

Grid Prospects Look Good

Spring football practice passed the half-way mark this week. Coach Bob Whittaker said that activities will be wound up a week or two after spring vacation, depending on the weather.

Coach Whittaker has been attending practices on crutches lately, nursing a toe he broke by accidentally dropping a ladder on his foot.

The main purpose of the spring workouts is to re-adjust some men to new positions and change the freshmen to different places in the lines up from what they played in high school.

To date the spring's work has been highly successful, with new men filling places left by graduating seniors. One of the standouts so far has been Joe Lukac, a transfer student from Ohio State, whose running and all around play at halfback has been sensational, and still mowing down the opposition like he did last year is full-back Jack Woodland. Three freshmen who have been doing great things in the backfield are quarterback Neil Pohlman, left half Norm Rousey, and right half Bill Nunnaker. Holdovers from last year's backfield corps include such men as Max Minnich, Russ Maples, Bob Puchella, and others, giving the Falcons a good array of leather lugging talent.

Bowling Green again next year will feature a powerful line. Changes so far have seen two tackles, Don Mansfield and Darrill Clay, shifted to centers. Three lettermen, Bob Ackerman, Don Verduin, and Ed Kuntz, form the nucleus of the tackles with ends Vern Dunham, Schnelker, and Raeker on the flanks. The center of the line is well fortified with men like Don Dunham, Silvani, and Shelton.

Both Clubs Undefeated

by Bill Day Sports Editor

Trying for their second straight win of the season, BG's baseball team is scheduled to meet the University of Toledo Rockets on the local diamond at 3:30 this afternoon. Both clubs are undefeated, the Falcons edging Ohio Wesleyan 3 to 1 last Saturday and the Rockets taking both ends of a double-header from Bluffton College on the same day.

Saturday afternoon Ohio Wesleyan will be here for its second contest with Bowling Green. The Orange and Brown came through in the pinches at Delaware to defeat the Battling Bishops and another close contest is expected this time.

Toledo brings a club of unknown ability to BG. The Rockets had no trouble in stopping Bluffton last week, but the Beavers can't be considered a strong club. Toledo is counting mostly on new talent this season, according to Coach Dave Connelly.

The Falcons are in good shape with Petrides, Roob, Hegstrom, and O'Brien ready for mound duty. Petrides started the game at Ohio Wesleyan and was relieved by Roob in the eighth frame. Tom Burton, who hammered a long triple in the Wesleyan game, and John Jeremiah will see action behind the plate.

The infield is set with Martin, Lute, Johnston, Weber, Honner, Shuck, and Bohanna. The outfield continues to be the weak spot with plenty of room for improvement in all three spots.

Firearms Must Be Registered

Students who wish to keep firearms in their possession in dormitories or rooming houses must be members of the Rifle and Pistol Club, according to D. O. Matthews, director of intramural athletics.

On presentation of a signed membership card to Mr. Matthews, students will be issued a certificate which entitles them to keep firearms. These certificates are to be placed in a conspicuous place in the students' rooms.

Firearms must be kept in a disassembled condition while in dorms or rooming houses and can be cleaned only when on the practice range or when off University property.

Information as to the type of gun, model, and serial number is needed to register firearms. Mr. Matthews is located in the athletic office of the Men's Gym and he will receive applications on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

A new schedule has been inaugurated for the practice range, below the PA Bldg. It will be open on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday nights from 6 to 9.

Hersland Named Captain Of Falcon Golf Team

SAE Keeps Lead In Intramurals

Sigma Alpha Epsilon continues to hold a slight margin over Sigma Chi in the fraternity intramural race. The SAE's picked up four points in the foul shooting contest by taking first place while the Sigs finished second. SAE has 530 points while Sigma Chi has 523.

A large margin separates the top two fraternities from the rest of the league. PiKA is in third spot with 372 points followed closely by ATO with 367.

Rounding out the top ten are: Sigma Nu 359, Kappa Sigma 346, Phi Delta 233, Beta Sigma 198, and Kappa Tau 190.

In the Independent League, Hut H is in top spot with 355 points followed by Hut L with 287.

Four returning lettermen are expected to bolster the BG golf team through an 11 match schedule which was recently released.

Only two men have been lost from last year's golf team which dropped but three matches all season. The team this year should do as good although they are playing a tougher schedule.

John Hersland, varsity hold-over, will captain the linksmen. Other men of last season's squad, which won eight of 12 matches, are Meredith Davis, Maurice Seiple, and Paul Schadek.

Now working out daily at the Bowling Green Country Club, the Falcon golfers meet Ohio Wesleyan here in the opener April 30.

The year's plans include home and home meets with Michigan, Toledo, Ohio Wesleyan, Lawrence Tech, and Michigan Normal.

All home meets will be played at the Country Club course, Coach Fred Marsh announced.

Falcons Defeat Bishops 3 to 1 At Delaware

by Tom Foy

Ohio Wesleyan's Bishops, still smarting from the 3-1 setback handed them by the Falcons at Delaware last week, will be out to even the series between the two clubs when they tangle on the local diamond Saturday afternoon.

In their first meeting, the Bees took a 3-1 decision although outwit 5-4 by the Bishops. All the Falcon scoring took place in the second inning as Tom Burton lead off with a triple and romped home when the throw-in from the outfield went wild. Martin, the next batter, was hit by a pitched ball and scored all the way from first on a long single by Tesnow. Tesnow brought in the third run when he stole second and scored on a bingle by Johnston.

Wesleyan chalked up their lone marker in the fifth on a triple by Moore followed by Buttermore's single.

Pitching on both sides was excellent with Freddy Petrides giving five hits in the eight innings he was on the hill. Roob took over in the eighth with two men on and retired the side. Brooks went the route for the Bishops.

Chuck Buttermore was batting leader of the day with three scratch singles. Tom Burton, with his triple, paced the Falcon assault.

The setback was the fourth in succession for the Delaware nine.

Students Visit Board Of Trade

Marketing students spent Friday morning with the nation's expert grain traders during a field trip to visit the Chicago Board of Trade which is celebrating its first century of business. Many Bowling Green men actually rubbed elbows with members of the Board in the Pit during trading.

In the afternoon the 44 advanced marketing students visited the Merchandise Mart, the world's largest commercial building and wholesale house. The Merchandise Mart has 93 acres of floor space, and is called the world's fair under-one-roof.

Students who saw the action of the Board of Trade were amazed by the signaling and shouting of the members. A vertical finger means 5,000 bushels, a horizontal finger represents 1/8-cent. Because activity and noise is great all traders are expert at the signal system.

The university bus was used for the trip which began Thursday evening and ended Friday night, the students staying overnight at the Brevoort Hotel in Chicago Thursday. Accompanying the students on the trip were Sue Gesling, John Davidson, and L. F. Manhart, all instructors in Marketing.

Tomorrow is your last chance to sign up for softball which begins April 20. You may sign the sheets placed in the dorms and sorority houses or the one in the Women's Bldg.

Teams will be made up from the names on the various lists. Players will only meet on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Check your calendar on Tuesday and Thursday after noons at 4 and plan to come out for a good game of softball.

Banquet Tickets

Tickets are now on sale for the Women's Athletic Association Banquet to be held April 21. You may get your tickets from the following class representatives: Priscilla Powers, senior; Ann Sweeney, junior; Lee Wylie, sophomore; and Verna Harting, freshman.

Tomorrow afternoon is the deadline for buying your tickets. If you plan to come to the banquet—which has many surprises in store for you — get your $1.50 ready for your class representative.

Voting Day

Cast your ballot for the Women's Athletic Association officers next Tuesday from 8 to 5 in the Main Hall of the Women's Bldg. It is your duty as a club member to come out and vote for next year's officers. The slate of officers is posted in the Women's Bldg.

Intracampus Bowling

Women's Bldg. placed first in the Intracampus Bowling Tournament which was sponsored by the Bowling Club last Friday evening. Keglers rolling for Women's Bldg. were Tex West, Irma Barton, Barb Bottenus, Carolyn Talbot, and Betty Heater.

Phi Mu's team placed second. Other teams entered include: Kohl Hall, Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Xi Delta, Delta Gamma, Chi Omega, Kappa Delta, Alpha Phi, and Williams Hall.

Volleyball Tournament

With only two games to be played in the Volleyball Tournament, Williams Hall still holds top spot in both leagues. It looks like the Kappa Delta's winners of the cup last year, will have to pass it on to a better team.

Dance Concert

A reminder to all—this Thursday and Friday, April 15 and 16 at 8:15 p.m. is the annual dance concert sponsored by the Dance Club.

Charles Younge, guest artist for the show, started rehearsals Monday. He will do two solo numbers and an Afro-Cuban dance with Evelyn Lockman and Bob Son de Regger.

(FROM A SERIES OF STATEMENTS BY PROMINENT TOBACCO FARMERS)

"I think Chesterfield is the best cigarette on the market. I've smoked them for about 20 years. It's mild and it's got more real tobacco taste."

"Liggett & Myers buy the middle leaves... it's the best leaf... it's mellow... it's got to be ripe. They consistently pay above the average to get the tobacco they want."
